have been richly rewarded for their trouble. In spite of the applianse with which the house was occasionally sharen, it must be said that the performance was one of the most miserable of which the Abbott troupe has ever been guilty. The opera is of the highest order and requires the very best talent for its effective production. To fail in an attempt to present it exactly as intended is to drop from the sublime to the ridiculous. The bare idea of the Abbott troupe struggling with Semiramide is ridiculous in the extreme, and it is to be hoped that for Market and Semiramide is ridiculous in the extreme, and it is to be hoped that for Market and Semiramide is ridiculous in the extreme, and it is to be hoped that for Market and Semiramide is ridiculous in the Market and Semiramide is ridiculous.
